STRANGE NOISES ALARM RESIDENTS

Rumbling Sounds Seem to Come From Subterranean Source.

CAUSE NOT FULLY KNOWN

Dr. James E. Talmage Consulted on Question, But Says Further Facts Must be Learned.

At intervals during the last two or three years, reports have been made of mysterious noises, presumably due to subterranean causes, heard in the vicinity of Blacktail mountain in Wasatch county, Utah. Yesterday another report of the kind came to hand from a respected and well known resident of the region, who was on a visit to Sait Lake City, Thomas Rhodes of Hanna, Wasatch county. On being questioned on the remarkable phenome-non, Mr. Rhodes referred the inquirer to Dr. James E. Talmage, the weil known geologist and mining engineer, to whom he had made a statement of the facts in the hope of obtaining from the doctor an explanation. Mr. Rhodes was just leaving for his home in the affected region; and for the following statement we are indebted to the courtesy of Dr. Talmage. "Thomas Rhodes called upon me

Wednesday afternoon in company with his father-in-law, W. J. Powell, who resides at 1155 Roosevelt avenue this city. Mr. Rhodes is a well known resident of Wasatch county, after whom the Rhodes platean was named. He said that the strange noises which have been heard over a considerable area in Wasatch county during every winter since 1905, had begun again this year. From his account these noises suggest heavy blasting at a distance, the explosions being followed by long rumbling and gurgling sounds. Some people have reported earth tremors ac-companying the sounds, so marked as to shake and rattle dishes on cupboard shelves. Mr. Rhodes, however, has never personally experienced any ac-tual earth movements in connection with the sound waves. Sounds have with the sound waves. Sounds have been heard at Hanna (formerly known as Stockmore) situated at the junction of the north and west forks of the Duchesne river, and seemingly come from the southwest. Observers at Rock Creek also report the sounds as coming from the southwest. Noises have been heard, relatively loud and strong, by observers—near the base of Tabby, or Blacktail mointain; and to them also the sound waves appear to come from the southwest. As reported the noises are sometimes heard day after day for a week or more at a stretch during the whiter season; then again they are heard at intervals of several days only, and according to Mr. Rhodes' statement, from the beginning of December to the beginning of May, seidom a week passes without one or more of these mysterious sound manifestations. He is emphatic in saying that the noises are truch more marked during the winter season and that they have never been reported during the summer months.

"The facts at hand are altogether too few to warrant a definite statement as to the cause of this phenomenon. It would appear, however, from such reports as have been made that the seat of disturbance is on the eastern flanks of the Wasatch, thence easterny to the vicinity of Blacktall mountain. to the vicinity of Blacktall mountain. It is possible that the noises are due to movement of crust blocks coupled with subterranean explosions of steam or gas. It is to be hoped that residents of the region will note with care all features of the phenomenon and report the same that more definite in-report the same terms."

Perhaps this publication may be the means of calling forth reports from different parties who have heard the noises referred to, and who may have noises referred to an amount of the conserved associated phenomena. Dr. Talmage states that he would be pleased to receive any and all reports of the kind and respectfully invites such from observers in the region. His such from the Line Language. address is: Dr. James E. Talmage, Vermont Bullding, Salt Lake City, Utah.

RANDOLPH WANTS RAILROAD.

Determined Lot of Business Men Going After Branch Line,

Determined at last to procure for Randolph railroad connection with the outside world, the Commercial club and prominent citizens of the Rich county county seat are using every effort to induce immediate action on the part of the officials of the Oregon Short Line. This officials of the Oregon Short Line. This information, together with the reasons for the renewed interst in the matter was given by William Rex of Randolph, who when seen in the Cullen lobby this morning, said;

"Three years ago, a committee of Oregon Short Line officials visited Randolph to consider the advisability of making a railroad branch to that city, but for some unaccountable reason the matter was carried no further. The committee came at the urgent invitation of a group of citizens who realized that the permanent welfare of the city depended upon the establishment of some sort of connection by rail with the outside word.

"At present, the nearest railroad stations to Randolph are Evanston on the Union Pacific, 2 miles away, and Sage on the Montpelier branch of the Oregon Short Line, is miles from Randolph. The citizens are determined, this time, if indeed any amount of determination and encouragement on the part of citizens is ever of avail in railroad matters. "At the present time, practically the only industry worth while in the uniter-indeed any amount of determination and encouragement on the part of cilizens is ever of avail in railroad matters.

"At the present time, practically the only industry worth while in the upper Bear River valley is stock raising, for the distance from the railroad makes bauling of other products unprofitable. We have the finest dairy country in the west, but there is little encouragement for the farmers to launch into this branch of farming under present transportation facilities. From $75,000 to $100,000 worth of live stock was shipped out of the valley this year.

"The county, which occupies the northeast portion of Ulah, has resources enough to support a railroad branch. It is 50 miles long north and south and 25 miles wide east and west. All told the population of the county is about 2,500 of which 900 are in Randolph. The assessed valuation of the county for 1909 was $1,-685,311, and the towns of Garden City. Laketown, Meadowville, Round Valley and Woodruff would all contribute towards the branch's support.

"Some improvements have been made in Randolph the past year worthy of mention such as the laying of several blocks of pavement and the crection of several fine private residences and an $16,00 L. D. S. church building; but the people are awaiting a branch railroad."

More than 95 per cent of the subscribers donated not more than $10, which means at the most an average of $2 a year, for the support of our Symphony orchestra. Only a few subscribers exceeded $10. "In behaif of the organization we respectfully submit that in the light of the support given by the musicians who have sacrificed time and money in the interest of the work it is consistent to make another appeal to you for financial aid. The attendance at the recitals never has and does not pay expenses, so that at the present time the organization finds itself in debt to the extent of t500, for which Messrs. Goshen and Spencer are personally liable.

"We believe it would be a disgrace to the city to abandon this work after the five years' struggle, when the giving of a little financial support each year would secure its permanency, so we make the especial appeal to the old patrons whose reasons for giving in the first instance must still justify their support at this time. The giving of future concerts must rest entirely now upon this support. An immediate response be in the shape of an amount consistent with the needs of the orchestra and your own interest.

"Night of Rest" was rendered by the quartet.

Rev. Dr. Goshen spoke with considerable feeling of the life and work of Mr. Forrester. "No one need tell of Robert Forrester's character and attainments," said the minister. "By his energy and natural adaptability he rose to the head of his profession and could look into nature's mysteries as it is given few men to do. It seems strange to us that such a man in the prime of his manhood should be called upon to follow the beckoning of an unseen hand and go to the country we know not of."

The services closed by singing "Nearer, My God, to Thee."

"The pallbearers were A. H. Cowie, H. G. Williams, W. D. Williams, M. D. McLean, W. J. Tidwell and C. H. Jensen, The casket was covered with American Beauty roses as it was carried to its last resting place, Mt. Olivet.

The members of the Dental Society of Salt Lake exercised their odontological processes Wednesday night at the Commercial club, in the maceration and defibrination of a fine spread, and dental dissection of that delicate topic in professional othics, "Uniform Fees." The alveolar recesses of the feasters resounded right merrily, as the prandial decks were cleared for vocal action, on the calling for toasts, when the non-conformists in the little matter of fee comormists in the intermiter of testandardization were toasted and roasted by the sundry and various speakers. It was a most delightful occasion all 'round, with plenty of impromptu nitrous oxide injected into the responses.
